EARTHQUAKE TOLL REACHES THOUSAND

Humble Holdings Endangered By Oil Fire

RAGING FIRE IS STILL SPELLING PROPERTY LOSS

Flames Now Confined to -- One Earthen Tank; May Check Fire.

WINDS AID DISASTER

Oil is Ignited by a Blast of Lightning in Sunday Storm.

(By the Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 13.—The fire which is raging in the Humble oil field 17 1/2 miles northeast of here and which is the greatest oil conflagration in the history of the Houston territory, was still in full blast at noon today but was confined to one earthen tank which was started yesterday and to the tank which caught fire early today. A north wind is confining the blaze to these two tanks but great fear is felt that two nearby tanks containing 300,000 barrels will catch if the wind changes.

Seven hundred fifty thousand barrels of oil have burned so far. This is a financial loss of one million dollars.

HOUSTON, Nov. 13.—The most disastrous fire in the history of the Gulf Coast oil field now is raging in the Humble sector northeast of Houston. Three-quarters of a million barrels of oil now are burning and with a stiff wind in the north, fully two million barrels of oil are endangered. Sunday's thunder storm is responsible. At four-thirty during a downpour a bolt of lightning struck Tank No. 27 of the Gulf Pipe Line company, transporting subsidiary of the Gulf oil corporation. A column of flame shot skyward 220 feet followed by a dense cloud of black smoke and the report shook houses and rumbled window panes over the Humble townsite.

Winds Carry Flames.

At 2:45 a. m. today tank No. 22 immediately adjoining tank No. 21 on the north, caught fire and now is burning fiercely. The flames fanned by wind now threaten tanks Nos. 11 and 8, and even the big pump station itself. If the wind holds nothing can save the gulf tank farm with a further possibility that the Sun tanks on the opposite side of the road from the Gulf tanks will ignite. More than a million barrels of oil are in storage in the Sun company's tanks.

No. 21 first fired had a capacity of 584,000 barrels and had over 500,000 barrels of oil stored there in when ignited. Tanks No. 22, the second to ignite, has a storage capacity of 275,000 barrels and was practically full of oil. Tank No. 11 and 8 are smaller, about 150,000 barrels capacity and are nearly full of oil.

CLEMENCEAU'S TRIP TO U.S. OBSERVED

(By the Associated Press)

ABOARD THE STEAMSHIP PARIS. En Route to New York, Nov. 13.—Almost every passenger aboard the steamship Paris is honoring the maxim "early to bed and early to rise," in order to see Georges Clemenceau take his early morning walk on the decks. The former French Premier gets out of bed at five o'clock and paces up and down the ship awhile and then goes back to his cabin.

At dawn today he was up on the bridge watching the sunrise. He intimated that he would not attend the ship's concert Thursday evening preferring not to break his custom of retiring at eight and rising at five.

When this information was whispered about the ship there was much disappointment as everybody has been confidently expecting to hear him talk at the regular Thursday evening concert gathering.

Lester J. CONTRACT LET ON PAVING PROJECT

Commissioners Settle Final Plans With Contractors in Special Session.

City commissioners settled their differences on the paving contract for West Main street late Saturday afternoon and today a contract to pave the nearly five blocks of the street was in the hands of the Yates and Gallimore Construction company.

Letting of the contract was held up a few days to alter several items which were not originally stated definitely, it was said. The price per square yard was reconsidered and later settled to the satisfaction of all the commissioners.

West Main street paving will be the cheapest done in the city since the war, commissioners said. The contract let calls for approximately $1.50 less expense than the North Mississippi avenue paving. Yates and Gallimore's bid was for $3.50, which included all the items.

Material Prices Reduced.
This reduction in the cost of paving was due to the reduction in the price of stone, cement, hauling, freight, better market on bonds, lower interest rates to contractors, cheaper sewer tile and iron castings it was pointed out by the city engineer.

Plans for the paving have already been drawn up by the engineer and the contractors will start work as soon as possible. It will not be later than December 1 until work has been started, it is believed.

From the west edge of the paving extending to the Santa Fe tracks to the center line of Johnson Avenue, nearly one block, the street will be paved 40 feet wide. From the center line of Johnson Avenue to the center line of Bluff Avenue, a distance of four blocks, the street will be paved 30 feet wide.

It will be six inches thick, concrete and crushed rock being used. A straight curb will be built. Due to the fact that two drainage ditches pass under the street between Johnson and Bluff avenues, the expense of paving will be a little greater and the time required to complete the work will be longer, contractors said. Adequate drainage facilities for these two ditches will be provided, however.

Only two bids were considered by the commissioners, L. E. Hanson and Yates and Gallimore submitting them. The successful bidders were about $1200 below the Hanson bid, commissioners said.

Denver has approximately the same number of telephone as Greece, Rumania, Central America, Luxembourg and Egypt combined.

NEW MOTION FOR CHANGE VENUE IN ROBERTSON CASE

Counsel for the Governor Makes Filing in His Interest.

CASE CALLED SOON

Requests Change on Same Grounds as in the Bozarth Instance.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 13.—A motion for a change of venue in the case of Governor J. B. A. Robertson charged with accepting a bribe in alleged irregularities in state bank dealings, was filed the latter part of last week in district court of Oklahoma county, it was announced here today by J. D. Lydick, chief counsel for the governor.

The application according to Attorney Lydick contains the same grounds as those upon which a change of judge was recently presented. Briefly these are that the people of Oklahoma county will not give the executive a fair trial because of prejudice against him, growing out of developments in the state banking situation there.

Claim Same Condition Exists.
The governor's request for a change of judge was granted by the state supreme court after District Judge Mark L. Bozarth of Oklahoma county had refused to disqualify himself. The supreme court is yet to act on the appointment of a successor to Judge Bozarth to try the case.

The motion for a change of venue is voluminous. It sets forth the events which transpired in Oklahoma county prior to and after the grand jury there investigated the failure of the Bank of Commerce, a state institution. Indictments charging irregularities in state banking system, were returned against Fred G. Dennis, former state bank commissioner, Governor Robertson and a number of prominent county business men and when the grand jury completed its inquiry.

Asked if he believed the case would be called before the governor's term expired next January, Mr. Lydick said he felt certain the hearing would be started "within the next thirty or forty days."

OKMULGEE, NOV. 13.—The supreme court will designate a judge from some district in Oklahoma outside the 22nd to come to Okmulgee and pass on a change of venue motion, in conforming to the decision of the supreme court handed down several weeks ago, ordering Judge Mark L. Bozarth to disqualify.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS ORDERS

Decision on Violation of Anti-Trust Laws is Sustained.

(By the Associated Press)

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 13.—The Mississippi supreme court today affirmed the decision of Chancellor W. J. Stricker, in Hinds county chancery court imposing fines and penalties amounting to $8,055.075 on fire insurance companies for operations in the state charged with violation of the anti-trust law by conspiring to control rates.

The affirmative carried with the full penalty imposed by the lower court. About 130 insurance companies are involved. The heaviest penalty against any company was $195,875. State Revenue Agent Stokes V. Robertson, filed the suit nearly a year ago.

The decision of the court, although it clearly affirms the lower court's findings, come from an evenly divided bench.

There are six members of the supreme court and it is the rule of the tribunal that when its members are equally divided the decision must affirm the lower court.

ADA PREPARED TO RECEIVE SHRINER FALL PILGRIMAGE

Committees Making Final Arrangements for Entertainment.

THOUSANDS EXPECTED

Special Trains From Two Points in State to Arrive Here.

All is ready for the big show. Final plans for the Auto Shrine Ceremonial to be held under the auspices of the Pontotoc county Shrine club here on November 24, were completed at a meeting of the club at the Chamber of Commerce rooms Sunday afternoon, according to an announcement today by C. A. Zorn, secretary.

Various committees have been working for weeks on the coming ceremonial and final plans could not be completed until yesterday. Mr. Zorn said that a large attendance was had at the meeting despite the rain and that interest in the ceremonial was increasing daily. He predicted great success for the event.

All matters of doubt were removed at Sunday's meeting and the entertainment of more than 5,000 people and the initiation of more than 50 novices were completed. It was a profitable meeting for the Shrine club, which is undertaking the greatest event in its history, according to club officials.

Potentate Matthews, of the India Temple, of Oklahoma City, and Potentate Guyette of the Bedouin Temple of Muskogee, attended the meeting. The matters concerning the two temples were discussed with these officials.

Special Trains Scheduled.
Two special trains will carry the Shriners to Ada, one starting from Oklahoma City and the other from Muskogee. Advance guard of the big day is expected to begin arriving on the afternoon of November 23, but the majority of the visitors will get here on the morning of November 24. By noon the reception will be completed and plans for the work of the day started.

Expecting more than 5,000 Shriners and their wives and families to be here on that date, local Shriners are not stopping at any point in preparing for their entertainment. "We want to make it the most elaborate affair in the city's history, and one that will reflect credit on our citizenship," said committeemen today.

Two bands, two patrols and two drum corps will be here on that date to furnish the pep for the ceremonial. One band, patrol and drum corps for each temple will be in the city. Joe Davis of Oklahoma City will lead the drum corps of the India Temple, reports from that place state.

Ladies are not to be forgotten. Mrs. C. A. Zorn has been placed in charge of the committee on entertainment for women. She states that elaborate plans are being arranged including auto rides over the city, picture shows and other entertain-

NEWTON RETURNS TO WINTER HERE

Show Left in Missouri for Winter; May Make -- Camp Improvement.

"Honest Bill" Newton and his wife, who have been absent from the city for several months on account of business matters connected with the Newton circus, have returned to their home here for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton have just been released from a Missouri hospital where they were confined for some time on account of illness. They said on their arrival here today that the Newton shows would go into winter quarters at Lancaster, Mo., instead of coming to Ada. This was due to the fact that when the show season closed, the circus was too far from home to return before winter arrived, Mr. Newton said.

Newton has plans for considerable improvement work at the county fair grounds this winter and the absence of the shows will make it possible to do this without interruption, he said. He purchased the fair grounds from the county fair association prior to his departure last spring.

A good season is reported by Mr. Newton who says he went as far north as the Dakotas and Canada. He as the Dakotas and Canada. He plans to go even farther next season. Much of his time will be spent with the shows in Lancaster, he stated.

Mr. Newton's plans call for the erection of a grand stand, ball park, race track, fish pond, swimming pool, oystirch farm, alligator farm and permanent zoo at the fair grounds, but he did not state whether he would carry any of them out this winter.

His children have been in school here this fall. He is prominent in business circles here during the out of season period and has been a factor in bringing business enterprises to the city. His efforts caused five circuses to camp in the city in the winter of 1921-22.

Robbers Burn Bars From Vaults and Take Show Funds

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 13.—Skillful robbers burned a large hole through two steel doors of the vault in the Pantages Theatre here early today and escaped with approximately $11,000 according to reports to the police.

The money stolen represented the receipts of Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the receipts being swollen by persons attending the theatre because of the visit of Jack Dempsey, world's champion puglist. The loss was covered by insurance.

RELIEF SENT TO THOUSANDS LEFT WITHOUT HOMES

Many Villages Wrecked When Quake Joits Way Through Chile.

TIDAL WAVES FELT

Communication Demoralized Through Country; Reports Meagre.

(By the Associated Press)

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 13.—Relief forces to aid the thousands made homeless by the earthquakes throughout Chile early Saturday morning and the tidal waves which followed the shocks were mobilized today. The death toll will probably be at least a thousand, it is estimated and property loss will run into millions as several towns are wiped out and heavy damage to buildings and communication lines are particularly severe. Ships along the 1,400 miles of coast were affected by the huge waves which resulted from the violent upheaval of nature.

The full extent of the casualties property damage and destruction wrought by the disaster, has not yet been learned as many communication lines were out of operation.

Five hundred persons were reported killed at Callerman and in the districts surrounding the city. At Coquimbo at least a hundred are known to be dead. The damage from the successive shocks will probably be great at Antofagasta, Atacama, and Coquimbo.

All along the coast ships were swept on shore, pounded against the rocks or left high and dry. At many small ports wharves and quays were destroyed. Today naval ships were steaming up and down the coast, stopping at various places and sending landing parties to the relief of the sufferers, many of whom are without food and shelter.

The tidal following the earthquakes indicate a gigantic disturbance beneath the Pacific. The water was first drawn away from the shore, far below the low tide mark, and then they came rushing back in a great wave, which some observers said was 50 meters in height. At Antofagasta this queer and frightful movement of the sea was repeated five times, until the city was battered also to ruin and the entire population fled to the hills.

The tremors were so severe that some of the seismographs were cut out of operation. The total duration of the shock was three hours and forty minutes and estimated at a radius of 1,290 kilometers in a direct transversal to the Andes. The meteorological institute announced the earth shocks were co-incident with the passing of sun spots over the central meridian of the solar body. The sun spot made its appearance on November 5 and was the largest observed this year.

TRAPP TRIAL AGAIN HELD FOR COURTS

(By the Associated Press)

WEWOKA, Nov. 13.—The trial of Lieut. Governor M. E. Trapp, charged with conspiracy to defraud Seminole county, was indefinitely postponed today because of lack of sufficient funds in the county treasury to conduct the proceedings, County Attorney Allen Adams announced.

Delays in collecting taxes which was halted pending the stetlement of the litigation between two railroads operating in the state and the state board of tax equalization has caused the financial embarrassment of the county, authorities explained.

The county attorney intimated that it might be possible to hold the trial some time in December.

The death of Thomas Nelson Page removes one of the most striking figures in the field of Southern literature. Although the South has played a most important part in making the history of the nation, it has never taken as much of a hand in writing this history as has the North, hence the world has read principally what was given it by Northern writers, many of them highly prejudiced. The life of the Old South was in a fair way to be lost to the world forever and the Southerners destined to be regarded in a very distorted light when Page appeared and through his writings did much to preserve to posterity the facts in the case.

Page wrote many novels with the Old South as well as the new as a setting and among other services pictured the days of Reconstruction as they were and not as the New Englander thought the period ought to be. His services in the cause of preserving facts entitles him to the gratitude of all who believe in dealing with facts and not ideals formed from pre-conceived notions.

In this connection we would recommend to the students of East Central a book in its library entitled, "The Old South". In this Page gives some facts that every American should know.

The agitation for planting more trees is more than a passing fad. Americans have been very wasteful with the forests with which nature endowed this continent and now it is realized that something must be done to partially make good all this wanton destruction. For centuries European nations have had a rigid law requiring a person who cuts down a tree to plant two in its place. The result is that their forests have been kept intact and their timber supply kept up to the standard. This is the tree planting season and whether it be a shade tree for ornament, a fruit tree, a nut bearing tree or one of the forest, it is well worth the effort required. Ada is a much more beautiful place as a result of the trees planted here but there is still room for improvement. The same applies to every farm in the country.

Uncle Sam is a very fine fellow in the eyes of European countries when they are suffering from some calamity or in need of a loan to pull them out of their difficulties, but when he says anything about paying up he becomes a Shylock in their estimation. Nations are like individuals in this respect. There is no more certain way of making enemies of some men than befriending them when they are down and out. When the help stops they are ready to inflict any sort of injury on their benefactors.

The teachers of the East Central district are with us again. It is always a pleasure to have them assemble at Ada for we pride ourselves on being a town that prizes education and refining influences. These teachers are all loyal friends and supporters of the East Central Teachers college and many of them are alumni of this institution. A body of loyal alumni is the greatest asset of any school. We hope our visitors will have a pleasant time in our midst.

It is pleasant to see the familiar faces of teachers in the city. Ada people are beginning to think of this as the second home of hundreds of teachers and we hope they themselves look at it the same way. Faust of Shawnee, Hefley of Henryetta, Stewart of Okmulgee, Lever of Coalgate and a host of other celebrities in the scholastic world are almost as familiar names in Ada as Linscheid or Hickman. May their tribe increase and may they come more and more to feel at home in our beautiful little city.

Everyone should read the report of the past year's activities of the Boy Scouts of Pontotoc county in this issue. It is a remarkably good one and reflects credit on all concerned. The scout movement has assumed large proportions and the importance of this work of supplying an outlet for the surplus energy of our future citizens and impressing on them the necessity of clean living and duties to others cannot be overestimated.

On a day like this a fellow wants to get away from the worries of business and take a gun and walk over the hills and valleys, seeing what he can kill. We are too much indoors of late, and every man and woman should spend more time in the open on such beautiful days.

The football game Friday between Ada and McAlester promises to be a real game. We hope to see every lover of sport on the college gridiron at 3 o'clock tomorrow. It will be a happy diversion from politics and business.

No man ever made any headway while he looked on work as being a curse and to be avoided as far as possible.

WARNING TO HUNTERS

The Friends Who Would Come to Our Aid
(Wichita Falls Times)

Do we properly appreciate our friends, that is, our very truest friends who if the occasion requires will offer us real and genuine help?

One cannot place a value on such friendships, yet sometimes we fail to stick to those very friends.

The Houston Chronicle asks if most of us ever realize how few such friends we have.

"Think it over," says the Chronicle, "you agree they are surprisingly few."

"Still, those with whom we associate seem mighty friendly."

"You have a desire to hold their friendship. You want to mingle with them on a friendly basis. You want to call them friends."

"When you get to thinking in this groove, ask yourself how many of these you would be willing to give of money and time to help out of difficulties?"

"Not very many, are there?"

"Also, it is true that you have dropped from your list some of your old and tried friends—friends who have been loyal and true to you through thick and thin."

"Why? Because you think you have among your acquaintances some on a 'higher plane' or society."

"Drifting away from real friends you have gone to those who enjoyed your society as long as you can keep up your end. When you flunk they'll say, 'It's too bad about So and So,' and drop out."

Tariff and a Pair of Socks
(Chickasha Express)

There is a growing conviction that the Fordney-McCumber tariff law must have been framed upon the theory that everybody is rich, says the Lawton Constitution. The previous tariff act, which was in operation over eight years, levied a tariff of 30 per cent upon cheap cotton hose. Under the law the importations were practically nil and the manufacturers enjoyed a monopoly of the American market.

For many years the United States has led the world in the manufacture of hosiery and knit goods, due in part to the fact that we produce raw material while our foreign competitors buy it of us and pay the cost of transportation to their own mills. In 1920 we sold in foreign markets $61,372,445 worth of hosiery and knit goods, or 18 times more than we imported. The importations were mostly novelties, such as "English Gold" hose and "French Lace Fronts." The Fordney-McCumber tariff taxes average 68 per cent, which is about twice the old rate and four times the total cost of manufacture in this country. In manufacturing these cheap cotton socks and American girl operates 25 automatic machines, turning out 150 dozen pairs daily, at two cents per dozen pairs. She makes $3.00 per day, which is the highest wage in the world for that kind of work, but the lowest production cost to the manufacturer.

The American Fair Tariff League estimates that the new tariff on hosiery is an invitation to the manufacturers to add $289,000,000 annually to their prices. These socks sold last July for 19 cents per pair. They are being rapidly withdrawn, and in a short time will entirely disappear from the ten-cent counter. With the old tariff amply protecting the American manufacturer of these cotton socks, the Fordney-McCumber tariff of four times the entire labor cost of manufacturing them looks very much like legalized graft under the guise of protection.

The Man Who Needs the Office
(McAlester News-Capital)

Grover Cleveland believed that "public office is a public trust," and he added the words, "and not a private snap."

It is a common thing in political campaigns to hear remarks like this: "Why is Jones running for that office? He has plenty and he doesn't need the office, Smith does need it and he ought to have it."

Here we have the private snap idea served up in plain words. It is just about on a par with the position of the southern tavern keeper who, when asked why he charged twice as much as he ought for pie, replied that it was because he needed the money. The quality of the service rendered didn't have anything to do with the case.

Public office is indeed a public trust. It implies opportunity to serve others, not a mere opening for a job. A good many more times than not the man who runs for office, though not needing the office salary is to be commended rather than condemned. He is making sacrifices in order to have opportunities to promote the public welfare. He is bent on serving, not for what there may be in it for him, but for the unselfish purpose of advancing a common good.

The country would soon be in a bad way if there were any extensive practice of looking upon public office as a sort of eleemosynary institution. Men, and women are not to be chosen for public service on sentimental grounds, but on the score of ability and willingness to serve well. The man who seeks or takes public office because "he needs it," is as unfair to himself as he is to those he is presumed to serve.

There are American laws which establish a preference in appointive places in the public service for those who have served their country. Other things like character, fitness, ability and industry being equal, it is entirely proper to give preferential status to defenders of the country, but these qualifications are not to be overlooked.

A THRILLING PICTURE.

"The Valley of Silent Men" Has Pictorial Beauties.

A picture which combines magnificent scenic beauty with a thrilling story is "The Valley of Silent Men," adapted from James Oliver Curwood's famous novel of the same name as a Cosmopolitan production, and released by Paramount.

Those familiar with the novel which ran serially in Good Housekeeping Magazine in 1920, will recall that it is a story of the Royal North West Mounted Police, with the Rocky Mountains for a background. It is a picture of tremendous power, baring as it does the souls of five men and a woman who are isolated in a little narrow valley.

For the purpose of imparting this realism to the screen, the entire company went to Banff, in the Canadian Rockies, and there practically every foot of the action was enacted and photographed. The result, apart from the dramatic value of the production, is a picture of unsurpassed scenic beauty.

The picture, which was directed by Frank Borzage, and which features Alma Rubens at the head of a small but powerful cast, is coming to the McSwain theatre today. It is well worth seeing.

SULPHUR CLEARS A PIMPLY SKIN

Apply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out

Any breaking out of the skin on face, neck, arms or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur. The pimples seem to dry right up and go away, declares a noted skin specialist.

Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur as a pimple remover. It is harmless and inexpensive. Just ask any druggist for a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur and use it like cold cream. (Adv.)

PRINCE OF WALES MAKES EASTON GREY POPULAR

LONDON, Nov. 2.—When the Prince of Wales took up his residence at Easton Grey, the country estate which he has leased for the hunting season, he was followed by scores of persons who had succeeded in renting other property in the vicinity. The announcement that the Prince would hunt at Easton Grey was followed by a rush to this lonely section, and houses and estates which have been vacant for years will again be the scenes of house parties and festivities.

Precautions have been taken, however, to allow the Prince as much privacy as possible, and the general public will be excluded from the estate. So far no invitations have been accepted by the Prince, and he will try as much as possible to be alone during his visit to the north.

Easton Grey lies just outside the old Roman "White Walls" and near the estate stands the famous abbey of Malmesbury, where the first organ built in England was erected, and the first man to make a flying machine lived as a monk.

"Mother Why Not Try The Newer Form Of Iron"

And Be Strong and Well and Have Nice Rosy Cheeks Instead of Being Nervous and Irritable all the Time and Looking So Haggard and Old?"

"The doctor gave some to Susie Smith's mother and she was worse off than you are and now she looks just fine." There can be no healthy, beautiful rosy-cheeked women without iron. Good physicians have strongly emphasized the fact that doctors should prescribe more of the newer form of iron—Nuxated Iron—for their nervous, run-down, weak, haggard-looking patients. When the iron goes from the blood of women the roses go from their cheeks, and strength and vitality from their bodies. This newer form of iron, like the iron in your blood and like the iron in certain green vegetables, is highly recommended to thousands who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance. It is surprising how many people suffer from iron deficiency and do not know it. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you the proper amount of good. You don't get the strength out of it and as a consequence you become weak, pale, and sickly-looking, just like a plant trying to grow in soil deficient in iron.

You can tell the women with plenty of iron in their blood—beautiful, healthy, rosy-cheeked women, full of life, vim and vitality. You can get Nuxated Iron from any druggist under an absolute guarantee that it will do the same for you or your money back.

For sale in this city by Gwin & Mays Drug Co., and all other druggists.—Adv.

WHAT ABOUT TURKEY?

And what about the Turkish situation?

This complex question seems to bear down on the powers of Europe with such force that statesmen of Great Britain, France and other powers are openly worried over the possible outcome.

While sage minds of Europe know little to condemn this "bad man" of Europe for, they are constantly fearful of the possibilities of his rampages, always on the alert to guard against the dangers of the looseness of the Ottoman empire.

But Europe must have a thorn in her side. Down through the passages of time, some state in that family has pestered the peace of mind of the states of their brotherhood and sought to wreck the internal peace of the family.

Well-meaning interference on the part of neutral countries of Europe has on several instances threatened the peace of the entire European family and brought them on the verge of restless turmoil.

Turkey should be spanked and forced to listen to reason or abandoned to her own salvation so long as she limits her conquests within the boundaries of her own countries.

For the first time in seventy years Michigan will be represented in the United States senate by a Democrat, former Governor Ferris breaking the long line of Republicans who have filled the position since before the Civil war. The past few years have seen a great change in the lineup of several states. Until 1896 West Virginia, Delaware, Kentucky, Maryland and New Jersey had been safely Democratic. They went to McKinley that year and have gone Republican oftener than otherwise ever since. Missouri, too, has been a doubtful state since 1908. On the other hand, Kansas, New Hampshire and Ohio were solidly Republican. In recent years the Democrats have had a habit of frequently electing the governor in Ohio and Wilson carried the state in 1916 in the race against Hughes, thereby clinching his election. He also carried New Hampshire and this year that state elected a Democratic governor. A number of western states have formed a habit of going first one way and then another, hence the elections of the future will not be so easy to figure as in times past. Henry W. Grady once said that when Texas and Massachusetts cast their electoral votes for the same candidate for president without exciting any more comment than when Texas and Georgia voted alike it would be better for the nation. The general shifting of interests and constant changing of political issues may yet bring this to pass, although it is some distance in the future.

In all the propaganda put out by the wet forces in favor of cutting a loophole through the Volstead law whereby beer and light wines may be sold, not a word is said about the method of the sale. If these sales are made lawful it will naturally follow that the saloon will come back and with the unpopularity of this former institution it would never do to say anything about the return of the saloon at this time. If the saloon is brought back it will mean a return to the old days when the politics of the nation was largely shaped by the liquor interests. The public banished the saloon because of its pernicious interference in politics and its utter disregard for all forms of law and regulation of the business and there is no reason to believe that the liquor interest have learned anything. Grant this demand and others would follow. There will be no end to the battle and turmoil. If the bootlegger is a law breaker he differs in no way from the saloon keeper of other days and he can command very little influence politically while the saloon keeper was able to exert a great. There is little to choose from in this regard.

The students of the Ardmore schools are observing a better English week. A good idea, for it is a hard matter to correct early habits of incorrect speech. A little attention to common errors should have considerable effect in forming new habits and fixing clearly in the minds of the young people correct forms. It is something of a reflection on our system of education to hear people who have finished various courses make errors that put them in a ridiculous light. The same applies to written English. Through haste and carelessness countless errors creep in and put the writer in a bad light. This is especially true in regard to spelling. We hope to see the Ardmore idea spread.

The race for congress in the First Oklahoma district has developed into a biennial affair between Bert Chandler and E. B. Howard. Howard is now a point ahead with two victories to his credit to one for Chandler.

EIGHTY-YEAR-OLD NEW YORKER WEDS TEXAS WOMAN HALF AS OLD

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 11.—(Special)—No young swain could have appeared more happy than Horace L. Hotchkiss, New York capitalist, when he married Miss Lucy May Johnson.

The bridegroom is eighty years old and the bride forty. After the wedding, which was in the fashionable St. Andrew's Episcopal church, the couple left for a honeymoon in Mexico and Panama.

The romance began two years ago in New York, when Miss Johnson was engaged by the New York board of education in city welfare work. It was friendship at first, sight and love at second sight, admitted Hotchkiss.

Hotchkiss served in the United States navy during the Civil war, particularly at the battle of Mobile Bay. He has been a factor in Wall street for forty-five years; he organized and was treasurer of the Gold and Stock Telegraph Company in 1867, organized the American District Telegraph Company in 1871, took a leading part in developing the Exchange Telegraph Company in 1873; was in the brokerage and banking business from 1874 to 1902; was treasurer of the Nicaragua Canal Construction Company; is a member of the Union League club of New York and the New York yacht club, and was founder of the United States Seniors' Golf association. He still is a director in a dozen big eastern corporations. He was treasurer of the Grant Memorial association.

Before returning from Panama, Hotchkiss and his bride will visit Mexico, where the New Yorker has mining interests. Next spring the two will be at home to friends in New York.

Hotchkiss first married in the sixties. The present Mrs. Hotchkiss earned a reputation in Texas as a teacher and last summer she chaperoned a number of Texas girls on a European trip. Her father was a Texas physician. At the wedding ceremony at which Dr. E. H. Eckel, rector of St. Andrew's officiated, the bride's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. H. Johnson, furnished the music. Mr. Johnson sat at the big pipe organ and his wife sang "O Promise Me." The bridal chorus from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's Wedding March were played.

Hotchkiss came from New York to Fort Worth for the ceremony unaccompanied and when approached by newspaper men at his hotel, presented them typewritten copies of data regarding his business career, and prepared statement acknowledging that Hotchkiss had been in Wall Street for sixty-three years, but he placed the soft pedal on his age. However, the New York "Who's Who" revealed the fact that he was born in 1842.

General view of New York Central railroad yards at Ashtabula, O., local shipping center, showing trains of coal en route to consumers.

Railroad officials have recently declared that their roads are now practically caught up with coal shipments and in a position to handle coming shipments. Which means that the old bugaboo "coal shortage" is a bit farther away than it has been for months. The situation in the yards at Ashtabula, O., shown above, is said to be typical of the coal shipping conditions about the country.

WOMAN COULD NOT WORK

Made Strong and Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a tired, worn-out feeling and painful periods. I used to get up with a pain in my head and pains in my lower parts and back. Often I was not able to do my work. I read in your little book about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have taken it. I feel so well and strong and can do every bit of my work and not a pain in my back now. I recommend your medicine and you can use this letter as a testimonial." Mrs. PHIL. MASER, 301 Winslow St., St. Paul, Minn.

Just another case where a woman found relief by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Many times these tired, worn-out feelings and pains about the body are from troubles only women have. The Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for just this condition. The good results are noted by the disagreeable symptoms passing away—one after another.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a Woman's Medicine for Women's Ailments. Always reliable.

Knitted Fabrics Now For Children's Frocks

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

KNITTED fabrics are finding a new and delightful use in frocks for juniors this season, supplanting to a certain degree the wash materials that are generally considered synonymous with children's garments.

Navy jersey fashions the little frock at the left, which might be termed as a glorified middie style, for its long waist portion attached with a wide tuck to the straight plaited skirt carries the suggestion of a separate blouse.

Much of the interest of this costume is bound to center in the vestee, collar, and cuffs of bright red jersey, the gay colored peasant embroidery on the vestee perhaps proving the most fascinating note of all.

Knitted silk, a firmly-woven tricotette, was the selection made for the bloomer dress. Although little different in design from bloomer dresses that have been popular for some time, this little model achieves marked distinction in its color, a soft, medium green contrasted with bindings and underarm lacings of navy blue braid.

Northern Time in Oklahoma
At last it's day—an' me, by heck, With aching joints an' cricky neck A dreading' to get up—an' yet I'm danged nigh friz. A coverlet Was plenty warm when me an' Min Chucked out the light an' tumbled in;

But in the last half hour or so The mercury's dropped a foot, I know! With geese a gabbin' as they fly, An' jays a jawin' fit 't die, An' north sky drippin' indigo, An' squealin' pige—a fool'd know 'At norther time 'us gettin' near. But me—I chance it every year. An' now it's freezin' cold—brrrrr An' I'm the one to build a fire!

Now where on earth's the skuttle been— All battered up, an' rusted thin? I bet the poker's missin' too. It looks like I had orter know 'T keep my implements together; Allu seems 'at norther weather Finds me shiverin' around With nary poker to be found.

Burn! ye puny little fire! Hear the wind! It's howlin' righer. Burn! I tell ye—'fore I cuss! Cold as Cris'mas—gettin' wuss! But Oklahoma jobs er done In Sooner style—whole hog er none Without no foolin' monkey biz! Get over, Min—I'm nearly friz! —Kathleen Abbott Jarrell

A Poiret Twill With Royal Blue Trimming

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

"SERVICE FIRST" is almost as popular as "safety first" with business girls and women. The Poiret twill frock shown here, with its embroidery of Royal blue floss and its ribbon sash of the same, is truly a service frock, but in this case smartness is first and style serviceability second.

The large armhole, the medium length sleeve, and the soft drape of the skirt are all advantageous for a simple frock.

For hats, no other fabric seems to possess the adaptability of black baronette satin, so glossy and firm, making an admirable combination with Royal Lyons' velvet for the facing of this broad-of-shoulders, irregular brim. Two-tone ostrich blades laid flat on the right side of the brim serve as the trimming and add a softening touch to an otherwise plain hat.

Willing Prisoner Object of Closed Doors in Bastille

"Hey, don't lock the door, I'm not a prisoner and I've permission to be here," shouted an inmate of the city jail Saturday night as a policeman started to lock the door of the cell.

On investigating the policeman found that through the big heartedness of the police judge, Old Silas had gained permission to use a city jail bed Saturday night—since he had no home and no money.

It was raw weather and Old Silas was unable to stand the exposure. So he spent the night as the guest of the city.

But next morning when it came time to inspect the jail, the policeman found an occupant of the cell but the door was open. Naturally he started to lock the door—as the door is generally kept locked when prisoners are to be kept.

Old Silas wanted to sleep in the bed but he did not want the door locked while he was doing it. So he hastened from the warm confines of the blankets to explain his case to the officer. And when he had finished doing so he returned to his interrupted rest.

But later he was forced to leave when the city began receiving guests of a different character. Not long after his departure the jail was filled with "guests" who had the doors locked on them.

Wholesale Capture of Penitent Negro Gamblers is Made

The Shoplifters' Decoy

By JOHN PALMER

(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

"Say! See that woman!" whispered the little man with the dented derby, in the jewelry department of Hutchinson's, the big department store.

It was not the part where thousand-dollar rings and twenty-thousand-dollar necklaces are displayed in glass cases and watched over by lynx-eyed attendants, but there were a number of good gold bracelet watches and rings with real stones lying handily about.

The woman was walking slowly along the store. She was coming to the jewelry. She was passing the silks. Deftly she picked up a half-dozen fine silk handkerchiefs, fumbled with them, sighed, and let them go.

Then, opening her fur coat, she displayed, just for a moment, an array of hooks and pockets inside, where neither hooks nor pockets ought to have been.

All the crowd was observing her. The store detective was already on the spot. And so eager was everybody to see something happen that they all pretended not to be looking at her.

At the end of the silks she whipped up six pairs of silk stockings, made as if to thrust them under her cloak, and then replaced them.

A whisper of excitement went up from the crowd. "A kleptomaniac," muttered the little man with the dented derby. The store detective tried to look as inconspicuous as possible. The clerks at the jewelry counter were dreadfully alert.

"Funny, that impulse to take things," said the little man. "If she was a poor woman, now, it would go harder with her. She'll not be able to resist those watches, you take my word for it."

The woman in the fur cloak, quite unconscious of the interest that she was arousing, came to the jewelry counter.

"I want to see some rings," she said. "Yes, madam," answered the clerk, watching the store detective out of the tail of his eye. "About what price, madam?"

"Oh, seventy-five to a hundred dollars," answered the woman.

The clerk showed her some rings, the other clerk drew near; the store detective pretended to be a customer; the man in the dented derby put his hands in his pockets and whistled.

The tray of rings proved dubious. The woman picked up several, examined them.

"I don't think," she began.

The store detective stepped up. "Pardon me, madam, but I must ask you to step into the office."

"What do you mean? Who are you?" the woman flared up.

"I must respectfully ask you to submit to be searched, madam. There are two rings missing from that tray."

"Three," said the clerk with the tray.

"Quite so," said the store detective.

The woman strode six paces along the counter. The detective, bland and imperturbable, stopped her by standing immediately in front of her. All about them was a gaping crowd. The clerks leaned forward intently, watching her.

"Unless you are willing to submit to a search, madam, I must call the police."

The woman struggled. Her fur coat opened, disclosing the hooks and pockets. The pockets were filled with a miscellany of objects.

"For heaven's sake don't arrest me. I was a fool, I know. I was tempted so badly. What right have you to expose goods of such value and tempt people to steal?"

The detective led her away. In the room of the general manager a woman detective subjected her to a rigorous examination. She was puzzled.

"I haven't found the rings you spoke of," she said to the manager and the detective. "And these goods—well, they ain't ours."

"From some other store, I expect," said the detective.

"Well, what are you going to do about it now?" sneered the woman.

"Madam, please remember you have confessed."

"Say, are you going to let me go, or am I going to bring a charge of false imprisonment?"

There was nothing to say to that. They stood aside, and the woman swept to the elevator and passed down.

"I know her face; she's an old hand," said the detective, puzzled.

The manager of the jewelry department came running up. "They've got away with five thousand dollars' worth," he stammered. "Rings—watches—it was a plant. That woman didn't take a thing. It was the little man with the dented derby."

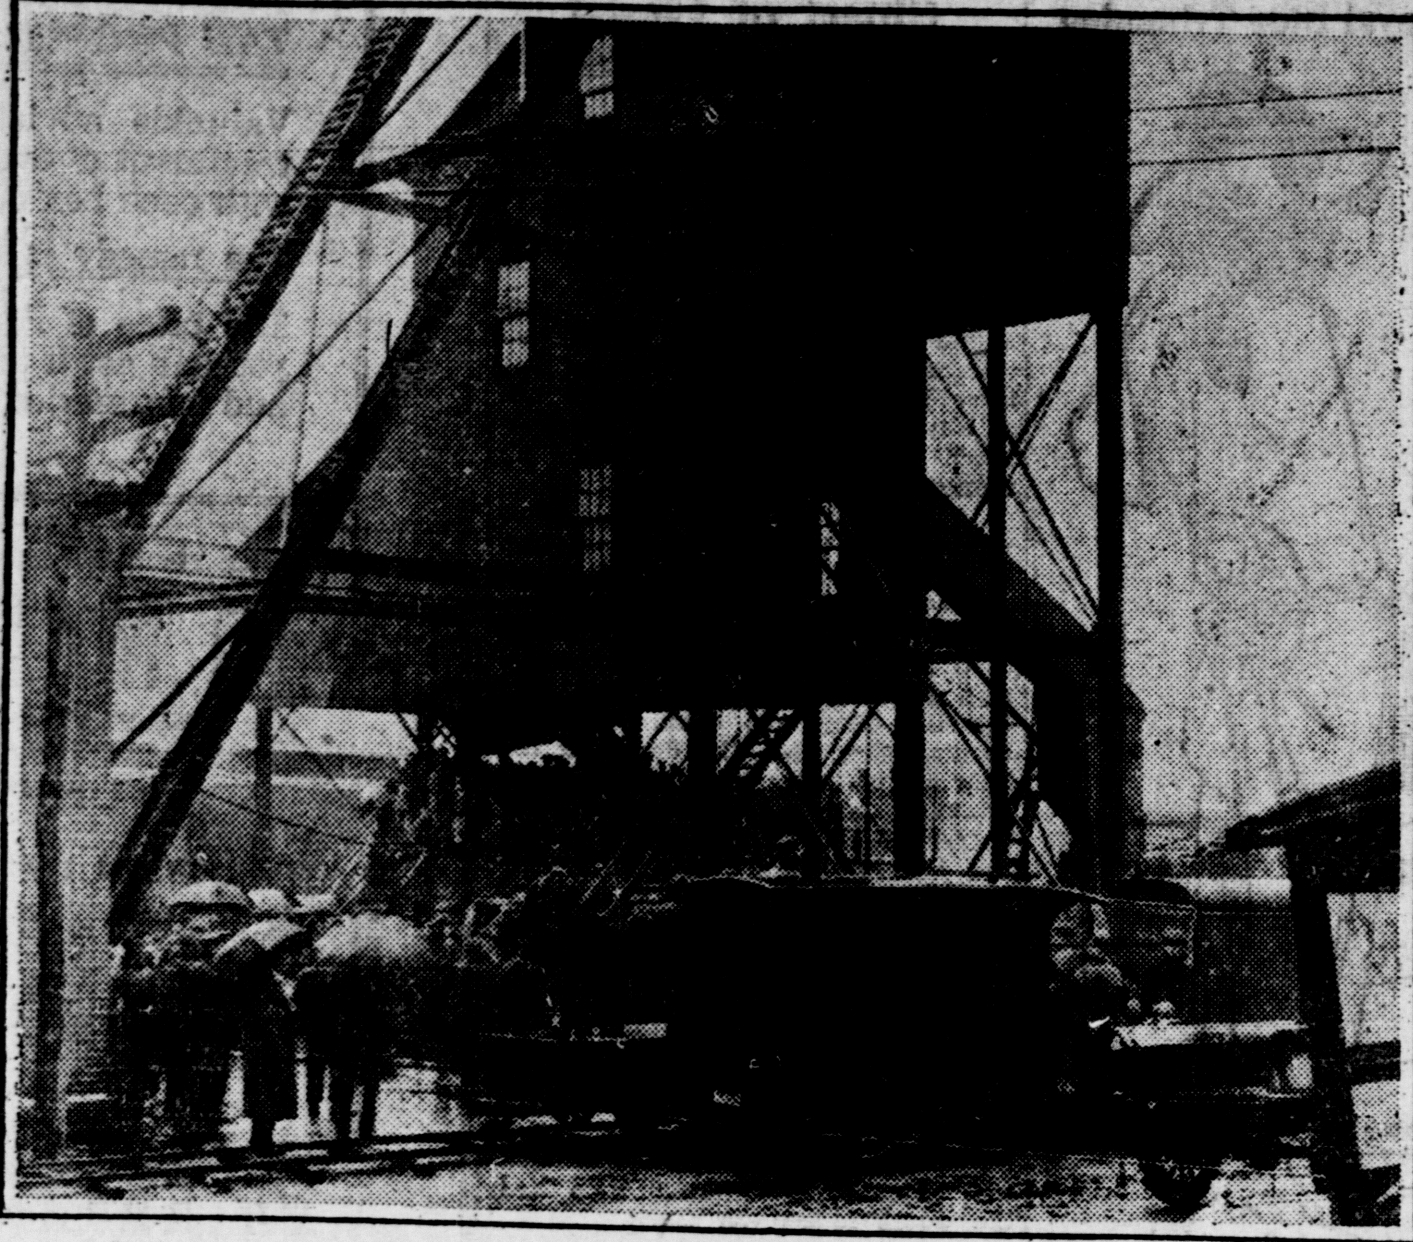

Righthandedness.

The average man today is right-handed. Estimates differ regarding the prevalence of left-handedness. Probably not over five persons in a hundred are left-handed. Criminologists find the percentage among criminals and epileptics three to six times as great.

The ancients also were right-handed. In Judges 20:16, it is stated that out of 26,700 warriors only 700 were left-handed, a percentage of 2.62. A study of the tools of cave men of the Stone age shows them to have been right-handed in the proportion of 146 to 135. Both hands seemed to have had equal preference—a condition which changed with the ushering in of the Bronze age, when right-handedness came to the fore.

The men were trapped in the mine when an explosion, wrecked the fanhouse, which caused the mine to fill with gas. The men who survived the blast managed to reach fresh air at a heading.

Engagement Ceremonies to Be Carried out in Old Style In Marriage of Jap Couple

(By the Associated Press)

TOKIO, Nov. 9. —At the formal engagement ceremonies of the Prince Regent to Princess Nagako Kuni which were held in front of the shrine of the Imperial palace, Shinto rites of Old Japan were renewed.

The Prince Regent, clad in a yellowish-brown court dress and wearing a "Drooping Cherry Crown" on his head, imparted the news of his engagement to the spirits of his ancestors. As for all great events concerning the Imperial family or the nation, Imperial messengers were dispatched to the Ise Shrine where the Mirror of the Sun goddess, ancestress of the Imperial Family, is kept; to the mausolea of Emperor Jimmu at Momoyama, for the sole purpose of announcing the event to them officially.

A representative of the Emperor previously called at the Palace of Prince Kuni, who had formerly tendered his consent and received the customary presents of the Emperor and Empress to the parents of the future Crown princess. These consisted of five rolls of silk, a cask of sake wine and a box containing two tai fish. This fish is an omen of happiness and a congratulatory present in itself.

Princess Nagako also was decorated with the First Class Order of the Sacred Treasure and in the Hall of the Chrysanthemum of her palace received the Prince Regent's betrothal gift, a sword about a foot long, very simple but made by the most skillful sword maker of the country and decorated with the Imperial crest.

From ancient times women of the samurai class or the nobility have owned a short sword as a symbol of chastity and a sign that they would choose death rather than dishonor. The gift of this sword holds the same significance as that of the engagement ring in foreign lands.

Powerful Theme Has Story of Jack Holt's Picture, "While Satan Sleeps"

"A man's fight with himself," says A. S. LeVine, adaptor of Jack Holt's latest Paramount picture, "While Satan Sleeps," showing at the McSwain theatre today, "is the best description of the theme of this picture. To fight with a material enemy is comparatively easy, but to battle with one's own self, is a scrap that will put a man to the test as nothing else can. That is the kind of role they have given Jack Holt in this picture."

Many have read Peter B. Kyne's story "The Parson of Panamint," upon which this new picture was based. Joseph Henabery directed and the cast includes Fritz Brunette, Wade Boteler, J. P. Lockney, Mabel Van Buren, Will Walling, Fred Huntley and other capable Paramount stock company players.

Whom do you count among your personal friends? Those who have told you the most about other modes of life, who have helped you to follow the things dearest to your heart, and who have been sympathetic, always ready to offer consolation and advice?

Then, according to Mrs. J. R. Dals of the Oklahoma Library commission, you count among the greatest of your friends—books.

And that being true, books bearing eternally human characteristics, also are your enemies, which in turn disgust, amaze and shock you, take part in your emotions, arouse you to anger and rebellion at times, Mrs. Dale declares.

Children's Book week started with the purpose in view of introducing children to the acquaintances they will know through life, and keeping the true and sympathetic friends predominate, will be observed for the fourth annual time, November 12 to 18, throughout the United States.

Oklahoma particularly, is interested in Children's Book week, activities of the Women's Federation of clubs, churches, libraries, parent-teacher associations and the Library commission indicate this year. For a definite program to hold an informal introduction of books to the children of the state is under way in all parts of Oklahoma, sponsored by these various organizations.

In the United States during a year, more than 1,000,000 children come of reading age. More than 1,000,000 children who will have to make their friends and enemies, as you did, if they are not aided more than you were.

In order to give these children associates more friendly than those which they had in their youth, two national educational associations, the National Education association, in fact, and the American Library association, selected by vote twenty-five worth-while companions for every child, and arranged them from the reading ages, grades one to nine.

These twenty-five, excluding the Bible, dictionary and encyclopedia which formed the reading material of Lincoln, and which are counted upon as being included in every home, are books voted upon by representation from both these societies.

But selection of these companions is not all which is being done for the youth of the country, and of the state, to aid them in forming friendships which shall be lasting.

The direct object of the movement, and so stated, is to provide more and better books for boys and girls.

Last year, under a more incomplete program than this year sees in action, the circulation of libraries in Oklahoma doubled with 600,000 to spare, according to the Library Journal.

Besides these various organizations which are working to introduce the "twenty-five best friends," to children, 358 women's clubs, all members of the state federation, are being reached through the five district chairmen of library extension work co-operative with the library commission, Mrs. Dale declared.

Mrs. Cora Case Porter is chairman of the First district, at Enid; Mrs. Dale of the Second district; Alma Reid McGlen of the Third district, at Tulsa; Mrs. Anna Telle of the fourth district at Atoka, and Mrs. T. S. Funk of the Fifth district, at Shawnee.

"Tell me what company thou keepest, and I will tell you what thou art," Mrs. Dale quotes from an old Spanish proverb. "If you knew of twenty-five absolutely trustworthy companions for your little daughter or your sturdy lad, would you not be eager to have them get acquainted?"

The companion-list chosen by the national association follows:

"Mother Goose fables by Aesop; Child's Garden of Verse by Robert Louis Stevenson; Heidi by Johanna Spuri; fairy tales by Hans Christian Andersen; Wonder Book for Boys and Girls by Nathaniel Hawthorne; Alice in Wonderland and Through the Looking Glass by Lewis Carroll; The Jungle Book by Rudyard Kipling; Arabian Nights by Hans Brinker and the Silver Skates by Mary Mapes Dodge; Robinson Crusoe by Daniel Defoe; Home Book of Verse for Children edited by Burton E. Stevenson; Rip Van Winkle by Washington Irving; Little Women by Louisa M. Alcott; Merry Adventures of Robin Hood, by Howard Pyle; Tales from Shakespeare by Charles and Mary Lamb; Treasure Island by Robert Louis Stevenson; Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm, by Kate Douglas Wiggin; Wild Animals I have met by Ernest Thompson Seton; Boy's King Arthur by Sidney Lanier; Boy's Life of Abraham Lincoln, Helen Nichols; Boy's Life of Theodore Roosevelt, by Herman Hagedorn; The Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens; Adventures of Tom Sawyer by Mark Twain; The Story of Mankind by Hendrick W. Van Loon.

Bumper Wheat Crop in Canada Enough to Supply America

(By the Associated Press)

OTTAWA, Ont.,—If Canada's wheat crop of 343,000,000 bushels were ground into flour and made into bread there would be enough to supply every man, woman and child in the United States with a loaf weighing twenty-four ounces a day for four months, or a similar ration to the entire population of England for a whole year, according to a computation based upon figures given out by the Canadian Department of Agriculture.

It would take 257,250 grain cars with a capacity of 40 tons each to move the crop and placed end to end the cars would make a train of wheat 1,945 miles long, or one extending from Montreal to a point 26 miles west of Swift Current, Sask., or from New York to Denver.

The value of Canada's field crops for 1922 is estimated at $1,119,273,583. Of this total, the wheat crop accounts for $369,334,350. The oat crop this year is valued at $234,510,360, an increase of nearly $100,000,000 over the value of the 1921 crop.

The Mayas were the most advanced of American aborigines.

Dr. Clarence J. Owens, president of the congress which is directing the expedition, said the trip would consume about two weeks and would include several points in Mexico as well as the United States.

The trip from Chicago to Laredo, Tex., where the expedition will enter Mexico, is being arranged with the help of G. C. Truesdale, assistant general passenger agent of the Illinois Central railroad, and J. J. McQueen, general passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific road.

During the trip from Laredo to Mexico City, members of the expedition will be guests of the Mexican government and will be entertained during their stay in the Mexican capital. The return trip will be by way of New Orleans.

Special trains will carry the delegation from Chicago through St. Louis and San Antonio to Laredo. From Nuevo Laredo the Mexican National Railways will carry the group to Mexico City where they will remain five days.

Officials of the Illinois Manufacturers' association have notified officials of the congress that it will be officially represented on the trip and will co-operate in obtaining adequate representation from Illinois and the Middle-West.

Vocational Shopmen Provide Own School for Their Workmen

(By the Associated Press)

LAKELAND, Fla.—A vocational school conducted in an old box car at the shops of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad here, supported by federal and state funds and with instructors supplied by the Polk county board of education, is attracting nationwide attention among advocates of vocational education.

Original plans were to conduct the classes in one of the public school buildings but because of a lack of space shop mechanics and apprentices obtained permission from railroad officials to use an old box car. The workmen removed the trucks, placed the car on a firm foundation, cut windows and doors and equipped it with electric lights, screens, blackboards and desks and seats for fifteen students.

Subject selected for study include mathematics, drafting, blue-print reading and the rules of the American Railway Association, the school having been designed especially for railroad workers. The sessions begin at 4 p. m. after the day's work in the shops is ended.

Tokio Now Third City in List of Population Rank

(By the Associated Press)

TOKIO, Oct. 7.—Tokio has become Greater Tokyo with a population of 5,164,000 people and an area of 161.1 square miles. Tokio therefore comes third among the capitals of the world with a million and a half more people within the city limits than Paris or Berlin. New York ranks second and London first. Twenty-four villages and suburbs have been included in the greater city. The expansion has taken the form of a great circle, the Imperial Palace being almost in the centre. The radius is nearly 10 English miles.

Count Goto, the mayor of Tokio, has in view the construction of modern roads, long lacking in the capital, improvement of the tramcar lines and the creation of a great harbor where ocean liners can call.

In old times Tokio was called Yedo and was but a fishing village. The Shogun Tokukawa Iyeyasu chose it for his capital in 1590.

Place Censorship on American Films Brought to Japan

(By the Associated Press)

OSAKA, Japan.—The Imperial tax of $15 a thousand feet imposed on imported films having failed to check the importations from America, which on the contrary continue to increase, some of the prefectures, including Osaka, have decided to impose a stricter censorship which it is believed will assist Japanese films, which, until a few days ago had the field to themselves. Among the subjects to be banned are those considered immoral, which includes love-making scenes, revolutions and particularly a picture of the war in which the former kaiser is the hero.

All the big American film companies are increasing their business here. In the ports there are numerous cinemas showing American films exclusively while in the country towns the theatres generally put on a mixed program of American and Japanese films.

Federal Government Wins Suit in Large Oil Property Case

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The Arkansas river, in Oklahoma, is not navigable above the mouth of the Grand River, the supreme court held today in a decision awarding the jurisdiction over the bed of that portion of the river to the federal government.

The question arose over a contest for titles to valuable oil leases in the bed of the river and was brought to the supreme court in an appeal by the Brewer-Elliott Oil and Gas company and others against the United States to prevent the federal government from cancelling their river bed oil leases.

Postponement of Lausanne Parley Bad for Britains

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON, Nov. 13.—Although the Lausanne conference for the making of peace in the Near East has been postponed a week, until November 20, officials take the view that another postponement will be necessary if Great Britain fails to win her point that a preliminary conference must be held by the representatives of Great Britain, Italy and France.

This British government insists on some sort of conference with other allies in order to learn exactly where Great Britain stands before she enters the conference.

FORT WORTH JUDGE IS EXHONORATED OF CHARGE

FT. WORTH, Tex., Nov. 13.—Federal Judge James C. Wilson, was exonerated of all charges against him today following a two months investigation by a committee of twelve lawyers from the Tarrant county bar association. The investigation was demanded by Wilson's friends, following publication in a Dallas church paper and statements in a sermon here that Wilson was easy on bootleggers, that he ate and drank with them and otherwise encouraged them in their operations.

SEWERS AND PAVING NOW GREATEST NEED IN TOKIO

(By the Associated Press)
TOKIO.—Dr. Charles A. Beard of New York, here to advise the Tokyo municipality in the task of converting the capital city into a city of modern conveniences, found the work at least partly underway. One of Tokyo's greatest needs is sewers and more paved streets. The laying of sewers is estimated to cost 800,000,000 yen. A start has been made in some parts of the city but only in piece-meal fashion and it will be for another generation to see Tokio with a regular system of sewage and the abolition of the night soil carts.

PIANO FAST REPLACING OLD JAPANESE INSTRUMENTS

TOKIO.—Musical instruments, especially mandolins, are being imported in increasing quantities, and western music is so fashionable that a study of the piano is now considered a necessary part of the education of a Japanese girl. The playing of the "Koto", the national harp, and of the "samisen" has not been abandoned but there are strong tendencies in the younger generation to turn to foreign instruments.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—And now Angeline is very much up-to-date

Neighbors Were Astonished at Change in Her

"I had lost nearly all faith in medicines, but I am thankful a thousand times over that I over that I ever believed in Tanlac strong enough to try it," recently said Mrs. Martha Baker, 508 East Sixth street, Gastonia, N. C.

My daughter thinks I might not be here now if I had not used Tanlac, and no doubt she is right, for I was failing pretty fast. The lightest kind of food hurt me and many times I could not retain anything I would eat. I was also fearfully nervous, couldn't sleep, and got up mornings completely worn out. "After I got Tanlac I improved so rapidly that my neighbors were astonished and wanted to know what I was doing to myself. I am just like a new person now and I know at least a dozen people who have taken Tanlac and got well on account of what it did for me."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Farmers' Column

By Byron Norrell

Here is a recipe that I can recommend from my own knowledge. Mrs. Norrell usually keeps a supply on hand and the pies are hard to beat.

Green Tomato Mince Meat.

Wash one-half peck of green tomatoes, chop fine, sprinkle with two tablespoons of salt and let stand two hours. Then drain and rinse. Cover with cold water and boil for two hours. Add one-half peck of apples chopped fine, two pounds of chopped seedless raisins, two lbs. of brown sugar. One pint of sorghum molasses, one-half pound of suet chopped fine one pint of cider vinegar one teaspoon each of cinnamon, cloves mace and nutmeg. This is excellent for pie filling and will keep in a well covered jar all winter.

Oklahoma Crop Notes.

Oklahoma City, Nov. 11, 1922. The soil is in fair condition as regards moisture since the rains of recent date. Sowing of winter wheat has been resumed. The early sown is now looking good and will afford pasturage in most localities. So far we have not been able to get enough dependable data together to justify a guess as to the probable acreage.

Weather conditions have been ideal for harvesting. Farm work is ahead of usual for this date, except the plowing and seeding of wheat. Crops are practically all harvested.

There is probably less than one per cent of the cotton that has not been picked. Ginning figures released for November 1 show that 540,801 bales had been ginned in the state to that date, indicating that our estimate of 691,000 bales will be too high when the final figures are tabulated. On November 1, 1921, 435,377 bales had been ginned.

Ginnings for the various counties in the state show that Jackson county leads the field up to October 18th with a total of 27,788 bales ginned; Tillman county running second with 20,788 bales, Jackson county was also first in 1921.

The Clean Up Campaign for weevil destruction is going forward nicely in some localities, while in other parts the work is lagging considerably. Many farmers are holding back in order to get the pasturage benefits from their fields.

The continued drought reduced the yield of corn to an average of 18 bushels for the state, indicating a total production of approximately 56,000,000 bushels. This is the lowest average yield reported since 1913.

Grain sorghums also show the lowest average yield since 1918. The estimate for the state is 15,065,000 bushels. This forecast is almost three million bushels less than the figure released a month ago.

Stock water has been replenished in practically all sections, except possibly in the extreme southwestern counties.

This coupled with the prevailing low prices of livestock and the prospects of wheat pasturage will tend to hold cattle on the farms from now on.

In the past great numbers have been thrown on the market due to the scarcity of feed and the poor pasturage outlook. If a livestock census were to be taken at this time, it no doubt would show that the numbers on farms are considerably lower than the usual for this time of the year.

Girl Defies Bandit; Calls Police and Robber is Taken

Miss Anna Koreny.

(By Central Press) CLEVELAND, Nov. 13.—The nerve of a girl, colder than the blue steel of the revolver aimed at her bobbed-haired head, saved the funds of the Karpis Building & Loan Company, and resulted in the arrest of the would-be robber.

Miss Anna Koreny is a mere slip of a girl. She's but nineteen. Her father is president of the Karpis Building & Loan Company. Occasionally she acts as cashier.

Miss Koreny was in the cage when the bandit entered the bank. She looked up to find herself gazing into the muzzle of a revolver in the hands of a masked man. "Hand me that money," came the gruff order as the pistol barrel wavered ominously between her eyes and her heart. Thousands of dollars lay on the counter about her.

"Hurry up," growled the bandit as she hesitated.

Instead she deliberately invited death by turning on her heel and walking out of the cage and into a rear room. There she told her brother, seventeen, to call a flying squad.

In the meantime two men, customers, entered the bank and the bandit fled.

Miss Koreny, grabbing her own revolver from the cage, led the pursuit. Pedestrians joined in the chase. Then a police flying squad rushed by and the thug was captured.

He told police that he had seen the money in the cage on a previous visit and had gone home, taken the gun and mask and returned to get part of it.

"Scared? O, yes, but then something just told me that he didn't have the nerve to shoot," she explained when asked how she came to defy the bandit.

butter and eggs in cold storage November 1, as follows:

1922—Butter 73,917,000 lbs.; eggs, 5,715,000 cases.

1922—Butter, 77,983,000 lbs.; eggs, 4,380,000 cases.

Shortage butter, 4,066,000 lbs.; excess eggs, 1,335,000 cases.

Deliveries of cream are about normal for the season, and prices on butterfat have worked higher in sympathy with the butter markets. Consumption of butter is reported to be falling off a little due to higher retail prices, and there is some surplus butter accumulating in the hands of wholesalers.

More attention to the production and care of cream will result in higher grades and better butter.

Heavy receipts of live poultry last week have been reflected in increased volume of dressed poultry arriving at seaboard cities this week, and lower prices prevail on dressed stock. There has been some improvement in the value of live poultry over the low prices of the previous week.

Reports indicate there is still a large crop of poultry on the farms to be marketed, and producers are now culling out and selling fowls that are through laying.

The supply of fresh eggs continues light and good prices are realized on fine stock. Storage eggs are generally selling below cost, and due to the larger stocks, continued heavy consumption is necessary to clear the supply, before fresh production increases.
